February 2012

Dear Mark,

Tax season is in full swing and our professionals are elbows deep helping clients in all capacities. The cup is running over with updates and technical information to pass along. At MJR we sift through all the information, simplify and trim it down to the most important facts before we pass it along to you.

We have just launched our very own MJR YouTube Channel  to provide a source of video information for all clients. Throughout the year we will be adding specialty content that you won't want to miss. Just click anywhere you see the YouTube logo to go to our channel then click subscribe to follow our free video content.

All information contained in our newsletters can always be found on the MJR website under the News, Tools and Resources tab

February Tax Update - What you need to know.

February has already been busy with tax news. We have gathered the changes from January and the beginning of February on a one page PDF document. The document focuses on high income tax earners. Specifically, two significant increases as a result of the health care reform may alter your tax rates. The document also covers selling your primary residence, Roth IRA conversions and even a frequent flyer mileage question issue that may arise for those that travel extensively.

Clearing Up Any Confusion

Tax time can be overwhelming so we created some tip sheets to simplify the process. It's important to make sure you're not forgetting anything important with all the recent changes.

Taxpayer Rights - Yes you do have them.

We won't make believe that the Taxpayer Advocate's Annual Report isn't a very robust document but we did our best to thin it down to make it manageable. It focuses on Taxpayer Rights as well as funding of the IRS.
